

Extract from 4 March 1996 bid by Doncaster College, South Yorkshire, England, to the "FE Competitiveness Fund". Fuller details almost certainly available via <http://fm.schmoller.net/>.

CLE : the Common learning environment is based on the Oracle libraries software and will act as a learning repository management system. It will include open hooks to the Internet tools currently available and will enable the integration of new tools as they become available. The primary function of the CLE environment is to provide the college with a learning management system. This will include key facilities such as student and group folders where learning materials can be collected and received on line assessment student tracking and tariffing information.
